

How Rich Is the Renowned Producer?

Stephen Belafonte, an American filmmaker and producer, boasts a net worth of $1 million. Born in Hollywood, California, in May 1975, he completed his education at Loyola Marymount University.

1

Stephen Belafonte Career

- Notable achievements include producing films like 'Thank You for Smoking' and 'Bad Lieutenant: Port of Call New Orleans'.
- Produced TV shows such as 'I Pity the Fool' and 'Mel B: It's a Scary World'.
- Made appearances on TV shows like 'Dancing with the Stars' and 'The X Factor'.

2

Financial Issues

- Divorce from Mel B led to financial challenges.
- Mel B had to pay Belafonte $40,000 per month in spousal support.
- Mel B faced financial struggles, with meager savings and significant debts.

3

Achievements and Current Status

- Contributed significantly to television and film production.
- Recently granted court permission to relocate his daughter to Miami, Florida.
- Committed to fostering a strong relationship between his daughter and Mel B.

4

Property Ownership

- Stephen Belafonte has invested in real estate ventures.
- Co-owned a mansion valued at $6.5 million with Mel B.
- Limited public information on current property ownership status.

5

Early Life

- Born as Stephen Stansbury in Hollywood, California, in 1975.
- Experienced adversity, relocating with his family to New Jersey at a young age.
- Adopted the surname Belafonte upon returning to California.